

Monologue on LANGUAGE

Active Vocabulary: 19, Grammar Structures: >4, Linkers: 12. Total: 512 words

You are going to give a talk about LANGUAGE.	The text of the monologue	Vocabulary, Grammar Structures, Linking Words and Phrases
Step 1. Introduction 1. Start with a hook sentence that will attract the listener's attention (a quote, a proverb, etc.). 2. Lead your speech steadily to the main part of your talk. 3. The introduction may consist of 3-6 sentences.	'A different language is a different version of life.' This phrase was once said by the Italian film-maker Federico Fellini. I agree with this statement, because a different language is a different culture, plunging into which you are starting to live a different life.	This phrase was once said by
Step 2. Learning Languages 2.1 Speak about the reasons for learning foreign languages. 2.2 What sort of people do you think make the best language learners? Which aspects of English (listening, reading, grammar, vocabulary, etc.) do you find the most difficult?	We live in the time of information technology and can afford to take online courses and receive the appropriate certificate , and therefore we have a great opportunity to become fluent in a foreign language , and there are many reasons for this. For example , we will be able to hold intelligent conversations with native speakers and develop relationships with people from other countries . In addition , there are many international companies nowadays, and if you work in such a company , the ability to communicate in a foreign language will help you not to fall behind in a career . It follows that in today's world it is difficult for a person to get by with knowledge of only one language. In fact , it's not easy to learn a language, that is why some people are lucky that they have the skills to help them learn a foreign language. However, it is easier for people, who	receive the appropriate certificate , therefore , to become fluent in a foreign language, For example , to hold intelligent conversations with native speakers, develop relationships with people from other countries, In addition , if you work in such a company , the ability to communicate in a foreign language ,

	have a good ear for music to develop accurate pronunciation and a good accent. Besides, people with a flexible mind are able to pick up new information quickly and to adapt to different dialects. In my opinion, I think learning grammar rules is not as difficult as speaking and listening.	will help you, not to fall behind in a career. In fact, to develop accurate pronunciation, Besides, to adapt to different dialects, learning grammar rules
Step 3. The future of English 3.1 Speak about the benefits of knowing English in contrast with other foreign languages. 3.2 What language do you think may become a global language in future?	In addition, English is one of the most popular languages in our world and the benefits of knowing English are obvious. English dominates trade, as well as the entertainment industry and youth culture. Moreover, it is the lingua franca of computing and technology, and it's prominent in international business. It's the working language of the United Nations. What is more, no matter where you use English, it is always easier when you know how to use correct and appropriate language. One cannot fail to mention such a wonderful language as Chinese, because in the future it may become a global language. The reasons for this are obvious. China has the longest continuous culture which is spreading all over the world. Its industry is also developing and soon will become the largest economy in the world. Additionally, China is the world's largest nation and Mandarin Chinese is spoken by over one billion people, making it the most widely-spoken first language in the world.	In addition, dominates trade, as well as, Moreover, is the lingua franca of computing and technology, prominent in international business, the working language of the United Nations, to use correct and appropriate language, may, also, become the largest economy in the world, Additionally, it the most widely-spoken first language

Step 4. CREATIVE THINKING Introduce your own extra idea(s) on the topic that hasn't/haven't been mentioned before. Justify your choice.	When every of us learns a language, it seems very complicated for us. But believe me, when you take up languages, you learn how to use words properly. You improve foreign language skills when you go through a language training programme. And it is not important what language you study. The more you do it, the better it will be.	Learns, seems, to use words properly, improve foreign language skills, a language training programme.
Step 5. Conclusion Summarise the ideas of steps 2, 3, 4.	In conclusion, I can say that everyone should learn at least one foreign language, since we have already figured out the advantages of knowing two languages. Of course, learning a foreign language is not easy, however this is a great opportunity to broaden your horizons.	In conclusion, can say, should learn, however