Monologue on WORK

You are going to give a talk about WORK.	The text of the monologue	Vocabulary, Grammar Structures, Linking Words and Phrases
Step 1. Introduction 1. Start with a hook sentence that will attract the listener's attention (a quote, a proverb, etc.). 2. Lead your speech steadily to the main part of your talk. 3. The introduction may consist of 3-6 sentences.	Henry Ford once said, "The best job is a well-paying hobby." It is impossible to disagree with his words. Nowadays, there are numerous professions in the world. However, unfortunately, this abundance of choice often leads to people becoming disillusioned with their chosen field of work. So, how can one choose a profession that brings enjoyment?	Henry Ford once said It is impossible to disagree Nowadays However So work
Step 2. Jobs 2.1 Which of the jobs you know would you like to do? Which wouldn't you like to do? Why? 2.2 What are the most important things for you in your future job?	Every person possesses a set of individual qualities that will help them succeed in a particular field. The choice of a future profession is quite diverse. Many examples of various interesting and sought-after professions nowadays, such as a nurse, a politician, a firefighter, and so on, can be provided. Of course, these are very interesting fields of activity, but I'm afraid they are not for me. I am attracted to the exact sciences, and as a result, I want to become a programmer. Nowadays, there are a large number of job openings related to this field of activity. Of course, to be a good specialist, one needs to possess a number of characteristic qualities. For example, a person should have an analytical mindset, good concentration, and perseverance. Moreover, they should be sociable, and, just as importantly, responsible. Undoubtedly, this profession requires a person to have a large amount of knowledge and skills, but it provides a great number of opportunities, which, in my opinion, are necessary. Working as a programmer has many advantages. One of the main reasons is a opportunity to earn high salary, and you have good opportunities for promotion. It is also an opportunity to work for a big prestigious company, where you can have flexible hours or even the ability to work part-time. Step 3. Homeworking 3.1 Speak about the reasons for homeworking, the advantages and disadvantages of working from home. 3.2 Would you like to work from home? What would be the advantages/disadvantages for you?	Homeworking is becoming increasingly popular nowadays, and there are several reasons for that. Firstly, there is no need to commute daily to work, which allows for saving time and money. Secondly, remote work teaches people to develop time management skills and plan their work schedules, resulting you have better work-life balance. Also, working from home provides an opportunity for people with limited mobility or disabilities to gain employment and make a living. However, alongside the positive aspects, there are also negative ones. For example, when working from home, there are many distracting factors, such as family and household chores, which can negatively affect efficiency. Additionally, the skill of working in a team is lost. As for me, I would like to have the ability to combine homeworking with office work. In my opinion, this is the most convenient option. Certainly, remote work has its advantages. The absence of the need to commute to the office daily saves a significant amount of time, energy, and money. However, unfortunately, this type of activity does not contribute to socialization and making new useful connections. But if I had to choose between working from home and working in an office, I would choose the remote option because, in my view, it is more convenient, especially in the field of IT.	Firstly commute daily to work Secondly develop time management skills plan a work schedule have better work-life balance Also make a living working in a team As for me In my opinion Certainly unfortunately But if I had to choose between working from home and working in an office, I would choose the remote option in my view
Step 4. CREATIVE THINKING Introduce your own extra idea(s) on work that hasn't/haven't been mentioned before. Justify your choice.	Many students and graduates are concerned about finding a job. One way to secure employment after university or during studies is to do work internships in order to gain practical skills and significant work experience. Additionally, a CV and covering letter are important tools in job hunting. Students should take the time to create a professional, up-to-date, and attractive resume. Furthermore, it is worth actively participating in student organizations, clubs, conferences, and seminars to expand their network and showcase their academic and professional potential. In conclusion, many companies are aimed at recent graduates, so if a student wants to gain work experience, they can try applying for a job or an internship with a large number of companies that are seeking young professionals.	to do a work internships CV covering letter are aimed at recent graduates Furthermore In conclusion
Step 5. Conclusion Summarise the ideas of steps 2, 3, 4.	To sum up, I want to say that choosing a profession that brings joy is important for achieving career success. There are interesting and in-demand professions in many fields, and each person can find an area of activity that aligns with their individual qualities. To successfully secure employment, various internships, resume development, participation in student organizations, and seminars can be utilized to gain experience. Ultimately, choosing a profession that combines one's interests and passions can be the key to a fulfilling and successful career.	To sum up I want to say Ultimately
